

Low Intensity Support Services Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) FY 17

1. What are Low Intensity Support Services (LISS)?

The Low Intensity Support Services program (LISS) supports children and adults with developmental disabilities (DD) and their families to live happy, healthy, independent lives, fully integrated in their communities.

LISS...

- Serves children or adults with DD living at home with their family, or adults with DD living in their own home in the community.
- Is flexible to meet the needs of children, adults with DD and their families as they grow and change across the lifespan.
- Provides up to $2,000 to assist children, adults with DD and their families with purchasing services and /or items to address their needs.
- Enhances or improves the individual's or family's quality of life and promotes independence and community integration.

2. Why are some features of LISS different than in the past?

In an effort to reach as many individuals and families as possible, DDA worked with stakeholders to:

- Simplify the application process;
- Increase equality (ensure equal opportunity for all applicants); and
- Increase the number of individuals served.

3. Who can apply?

Maryland residents with an eligible developmental disability may apply.

4. What is meant by eligible developmental disability?

An individual (child or adult) living in the family home or in their own home, has an eligible disability if it is due to a physical or intellectual disability, or is a combination of a physical and intellectual disability, and is likely to continue indefinitely.

Note: An individual with a mental health diagnosis only and not a developmental disability diagnosis, does not have an eligible developmental disability and is not eligible for LISS. For example; if a person is diagnosed with depression only, and doesn't have an intellectual or physical disability as well, the person does not have an eligible disability.

No. Unfortunately, funding is limited. Only applicants chosen/selected through the Random Selection Process may be eligible for LISS funding!

14. What is the Random Selection Process?

To promote equality and access for everyone the DDA uses an automated system called the Random Selection Process (RSP) to select applicants who may be eligible for funding from applications submitted to LISS providers between July 1, 2016 and November 30, 2016.

- The RSP takes place twice each year. Round 1 in August. Round 2 in December.
- LISS providers notify applicants of their status (selected or not) by mail.
- In addition to notification of their status, "selected" applicants are provided with the LISS Program Services & Eligibility Guide and Form.
- Applicants indicate the services and items they are requesting on the LISS Program Services & Eligibility Form.
- Applicants submit completed applications along with proof of eligibility and residency and other required documentation to their LISS provider by the specified date (as indicated in the status notification letter) to complete the application process.
- Upon review and approval, LISS providers will process paperwork and payments.

15. Can applicants receive funding in both Round 1 and Round 2?

No. Applicants who received funding in Round 1 may not receive funding in Round 2 of the same fiscal year even if the maximum amount of $2000 was not awarded to the applicant in Round 1.

16. Does LISS fund/reimburse previously received items and services?
